SHERMAN'S BODY IS LAID TO REST

Funeral Services Over Remains of Vice-President Held at Utica.

TAFT AND CABINET PRESENT

Burial Was at Forest Hill Cemetery in the Babcock Mausoleum, Beside Body of Wife's Mother—Business in City Suspended.

Utica, N. Y., Nov. 2.—Public funeral services for the late James Schoolcraft Sherman, vice-president of the United States, were held this afternoon in the First Presbyterian church. The ceremony, which was as simple and unostentatious as possible, was conducted by Dr. L. H. Holden, pastor of the church in Washington which Mr. Sherman attended when there. Assisting him were Dr. W. M. Striker, president of Hamilton college, of which Mr. Sherman was an alumnus, and Dr. Brokaw, pastor of the Presbyterian church. Private services for the immediate family had been held in the morning at the Sherman residence on Genesee street.

President Taft and members of the cabinet occupied a special section in the church, and with them were many senators and representatives, government officials and members of the diplomatic corps. All these had come in special trains from Washington. Since the church was utterly inadequate to accommodate those who desired to attend the funeral, it was necessary to admit by ticket such a could be seated. Outside the church hundreds of persons stood during the service.

When the ceremony at the church was completed the remains of the vice-president were taken to Forest Hill cemetery and placed in the Babcock mausoleum beside those of Mrs. Sherman's mother.

Sherman Chose Pall Bearers. The honorary pall bearers were Senator Elihu B. Root, Thomas R. Proctor, Charles S. Symonds, William S. Doolittle, J. Francis Day, George E. Dunham, Charles B. Rogers, William T. Baker, Henry H. Cooper and Dr. Fayette H. Peck. All of these gentlemen were intimate friends of Mr. Sherman and all reside in Utica except Senator Root. They were selected by Mr. Sherman several days before his death.

Business was suspended in Utica today and on every hand were to be seen signs of mourning for the man whom all Uticans loved and respected. Yesterday, when the remains lay in state in the courthouse, many thousands of men, women and children passed by the bier.

Taft Leaves Utica for Cincinnati. President Taft left Utica for his home at Cincinnati, where he will remain until after the election. He will make short stops at Columbus, Springfield and Dayton on his way to Cincinnati, making an address in each place. He will arrive in Cincinnati on Monday night.

Justices Hughes and Pitney of the United States Supreme court represented that body at the funeral of the vice-president.

Close Postoffices. Washington, Nov. 2.—As far as public interest would permit all postoffices were closed today as a mark of respect to the memory of Vice-President Sherman, an order to this effect having been issued by the postmaster general.

At the same time the treasury department issued an order closing all subtreasuries, customs houses, mints, assay offices and offices of collectors of internal revenue, for the day. This resulted in a general suspension of business on account of the funeral.

No Military Duties at Point. West Point, Nov. 2.—Orders were received here from the secretary of war suspending all military duties and other business at this post today on account of the death of Vice-President Sherman. The football game to have been played between Holy Cross and the Army was therefore called off.

Democratic Parade Canceled. New York, Nov. 2.—The great Democratic parade, in which more than 100,000 persons were to have marched in Fifth avenue today, in honor of Gov. Woodrow Wilson, the party's candidate for the presidency, was canceled on orders from Mr. Wilson sent from Rochester. The action is taken in respect to the memory of Vice-President Sherman, whose funeral occurred at the same time the parade was to have started.

SUPERVISORS GET BALLOTS.

The supervisors of the various townships will come to Dixon Monday to secure the ballots for Tuesday's election. The ballots this year make a very bulky package.

REPORT DIXON MAN MISSING

CHICAGO PAPERS TELL OF DISAPPEARANCE OF MAN WHO, HOWEVER, IS NOT KNOWN IN THIS CITY.

The Chicago papers are publishing stories concerning the disappearance of one Dr. W. R. Ely in that city last Tuesday, and they state that the missing man is from Dixon, but as far as can be learned the man has never lived in this vicinity. The stories are to the effect that Ely and his wife went to Chicago last Tuesday, and that since that time the doctor has been missing. Inquiry fails to disclose that any physician of that name ever lived in Dixon or any of the surrounding towns.

A number of local fans plan to accompany the team.

SPECIMEN BALLOTS APPEAR TONIGHT

EVERY VOTER SHOULD STUDY BALLOT CAREFULLY AND DECIDE HOW HE WILL MARK IT.

IS LARGE AND COMPLICATED

Woman's Ballot and Three Questions of Public Policy Printed—Be Sure to Mark Your Ballot Right, That Your Vote May Be Counted.

In this issue of the Telegraph are published copies of the specimen ballot, the woman's ballot and three questions of public policy. Study them carefully. Mark them the way you will want to mark your regular ballot on election day, and if in doubt as to how it should be marked, ask some one to show you. Don't be ashamed to ask. You will be relieved perhaps to know that many are in the same position as you; they have been too busy to give the matter thought, and when they step into the booth Tuesday and are confronted with the enormous ballot and the public policy questions, all to be voted upon in five minutes, they will be at sea and the chances are that they will not mark their ballot correctly and will unwittingly vote for the wrong men.

If you want to vote for any of the republican candidates, national, state legislative, congressional or county, mark a cross in the republican circle at the top of the first column. Then if you wish to vote for some candidate of another party, cross over to any other column you may wish to and put a mark in front of the man you wish to vote for. You will thereby vote for all of the republican candidates except the opponents of the men you marked in the other columns. If you do not put the cross in the republican column it will be necessary for you to mark one directly in front of each republican name you want to cast a vote for.

For a straight republican ticket, all that is necessary is a cross in the republican circle, but if you wish to "plump" for either Tourtellott or Abbott you must also put a cross in front of the man of your choice. If you want to vote for Roosevelt but the rest of the republican ticket, put a cross in the republican circle and in front of each of the Roosevelt electors.

Study it carefully tonight and vote intelligently Tuesday.

EDITORIAL

WM. B. McMAHAN. In re-electing Wm. B. McMahan to the office of clerk of the circuit court and recorder the voters of Lee county will make no mistake, for no one could take up the work of that office without experience, and carry it through so successfully for another four years as he can and if ability and attention to official duties are to be rewarded he will be re-elected by a good majority, for he has been weighed in the balance and found very acceptable.

Since Mr. McMahan took charge of this office he has run the business on a cash basis, collecting all fees in advance, while previous to his administration a charge account was allowed the patrons of the office and in this way many fees were never collected and thereby lost to the county. Owing to this cash system as well as the increase of business in the office, it has been made possible for him to turn over to the county treasurer three times the amount of money that was delivered to the county during the same length of time prior to the time he took charge of the office, which makes a substantial saving to the tax payers.

During his stay in office many improvements have been accomplished and systems established which not only facilitate the work, but assist the patrons in making a speedy search of the records.

PROGRESSIVES AT LEE CENTER

The progressive party was represented at Lee Center Friday evening by Attorney J. E. Erwin, Judge Jas. W. Watts, candidate for states attorney, and Will G. Mitchell. The speakers urged the voters to vote the progressive ticket straight from president to coroner.

A fair sized crowd was president and manifested close interest. A straw vote was held at a farmer's sale near Lee Center recently, and resulted thus: Taft 4, Wilson 10 and Roosevelt 23.

MRS. CONWAY LAYS DEATH TO SPOUSE

Declares Husband Did Not Intend to Kill Miss Sophia Gertrude Singer.

SILENT ORDEAL FOR THE MAN

Dramatic Scene at Police Station When W. R. Warthen and Woman Meet—Motive For Slaying the Girl Was Robbery.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Following the completion of a formal confession by Mrs. Beatrice Ryall-Conway, here, in which she declared her husband, Charles N. Conway, killed Miss Sophia Singer, Police Captain Nootbaar of the Stanton avenue station declared that Conway would be given the "silence treatment" for 48 hours in the belief that he will break down.

All through the period in which his wife was being questioned, lasting from early in the morning until four o'clock in the afternoon, Conway was kept in a cell in the police station, in ignorance of the confession made by his wife.

He was allowed to know that she was in the office of Lieutenant Crotty, and her cries as she broke down under the fire of questions put by the police must have reached his ears, but the police themselves purposely made a show of keeping him in ignorance.

Epitome of Confession. By order of Captain Nootbaar the shorthand transcription of Mrs. Conway's confession will not be made public. The epitome of it, however, as given out by Assistant State's Attorney Feindt was as follows:

"My name is Lillian Beatrice Conway. I was married to Charles Conway June 11, 1911, at Albion, Ind. While my husband and I were at Muncie, Ind., last September Sophia Singer wrote to me from Baltimore. She asked us to come to Chicago to meet her. We did and rented three light housekeeping rooms at 3229 Indiana avenue, two bedrooms and a dining room.

"Mr. Conway and I occupied one room and Sophia and William Randolph Warthen, her fiancé, occupied the other. On the night that Sophia was killed she had a quarrel with my husband in our bedroom. She walked over to the bed in her stocking feet, and sat down and started to put on her shoes. I went into the dining room. When I came back into the bedroom Sophia was lying on the bed. My husband said we had better go before she becomes conscious. I didn't think she was hurt much and then we sneaked away."

Woman and Warthen Meet. A dramatic scene in which William R. Warthen, who was to have married Miss Singer on Tuesday, and Mrs. Conway were the principals, followed the confession. The woman pleaded with Warthen for forgiveness, the police say, and begged him to kiss her, which he refused to do. Both were overcome by the scene enacted in the office of Police Captain Nootbaar and Lieutenant Crotty.

Brought to Chicago from Lima, O., where they were arrested, Conway and his wife were taken first to detective headquarters and then to the Stanton avenue police station.

Toast is like a certain little girl in the Mother Goose book—"when it is good it is very good indeed, and when it is bad it is horrid."

Perfect Toast can be made only in a General Electric Radiant Toaster. Its radiant heat insures Perfect Toast by forcing the absolutely necessary chemical change in the bread. Toast made in the tedious old-fashioned way is either charred, or brittle, or soggy. Electric Toast is the delicious golden kind that fairly makes the mouth water.

PROPOSED QUESTION OF PUBLIC POLICY NO. 2.

EXTRA SPECIAL.

Poduk-on-Salt-Creek—An extra large force of men has been put to work on Salt Creek, following the cold snap, and dynamite is being used in large quantities to keep the channel open. After midnight Tuesday, the force will be withdrawn.

Our sympathies go out to the Dixon traveling man who went to the door of his apartment to get the morning paper. The paper was lying far out in the hall and the man was clad only in his pajamas. The hour was early and he thought he could make a dash for it. But the door snapped shut, leaving him in the hall and it took him an hour to get the janitor; meanwhile everyone else was going about his business, looking askance at the victim of the embarrassing situation.

Young men whose sweethearts object to their smoking cigarettes should get them interested in the coupons. Everything is divided equally in this world—the poor man has the appetite and the rich man has the grub.

There isn't much saving in trying to smoke a five cent gift cigar as it generally takes a nickle worth of matches to keep it going.

A natural blonde is certainly up against it—no one will believe it.

BRITZ OF HEADQUARTERS

By MARCIN BARBER
ILLUSTRATIONS BY RAY WALTERS

"I think I recognize you, my dear young friends," he said. "You are two of the dark jugglers who had fun with me in Central Park and Riverside Drive last evening. I think it's about time for me to return the compliment with a merry little jest of my own." Turning his head to the millionaire, he said again: "If you have any silk handkerchiefs to spare, Mr. Sands, please use them as handkerchiefs. These gentlemen are accustomed to silk, and I would not like to use anything cheaper on them than they used on me. I suppose if we trusted them up with cotton or hemp, they'd die of mortification."

The detective's sarcasm was lost on Sands until he thought to recount in a few brief words his abduction in the park and the struggle for life that had followed it. It was evident that, in spite of the detective's coolness, he had some feeling on the subject. In fact, his manner toward the now cowering Hindoos was more or less revengeful. Sands fell in with the humor of the situation, and in a very few minutes the Easterners were bound with silk handkerchiefs as soft, yet strong, as any scarf they could have produced in the bazaars of Calcutta or Cawnpore. When the task was done, and it was done pretty neatly, Britz relaxed his hold on the half-struggling men's throats and pushed them against the back of the sofa until they half-sat, half-lay there, head to head. Then he stepped back, rested his hands on his hips, and eyed them mockingly.

"You are not very clever," he said, "but anyway, you're a fine-looking body of men. What do you think of yourselves, anyhow? Think you'll cut out this 'second story' game? Or will you content yourselves with the safer occupation of dips? My private advice to you is to try hencoops for a while. Cut out the big circuit, and go and get a reputation."

How much of his biting irony, if any, the Orientals understood they did not indicate. They only gazed at him in dumb misery, evidently in expectation of an ignoble end. They followed Britz with their joint gaze as he paced up and down the room, both pitifully watchful, and manifestly most wholesomely afraid.

"You saw part of what these chaps were doing, Mr. Sands," said Britz, "but what you saw was only the last of it. I want to tell you the way they went through this room was amazing. I hope you didn't lose many valuables."

Sands, in his slow way, assured the detective that it was not likely the searchers had found anything he would miss very greatly; but the Headquarters man was not satisfied. The mystery of the proceeding, he was inclined to think, did not begin and end with the Orientals. It was possible, of course, they had searched Sands' room simply as a matter of routine in the same way that at the first opportunity they probably would search the home of everyone who might be connected in any way with the Missioner jewel robbery. Yet something stirred uneasily in Britz's mind as he reflected on the possibility that the coming of the Orientals held a deeper significance. What if they had reason to believe they would surely find what they sought in that room? If Sands did not know there was justification for the search, why did he take it so calmly? It did not seem natural for a man to keep his temper whose apartments had been invaded so thoroughly. If the millionaire had expressed any indignation he, Britz, would have felt better satisfied. Besides, what was it the Hindoos had taken from Sands' desk? Sands had not seen them take anything, as they were ending their search when he got the first glimpse of them. Britz watched Sands closely to see if the millionaire's eyes would turn anxiously toward that part of his furniture. He almost started when the first move Sands made, after finishing his task of blinding the prisoners, was to saunter with a careless air across the room and, in passing, glance swiftly and questioningly into the pigeonholes whence the thieves had abstracted the mysterious articles that so actively engaged Britz's always active curiosity.

"It's about up to us to do a little searching now, isn't it?" asked Britz. "These bright young men have had their innings, and I believe it's our turn at bat. What do you say, Mr. Sands?"

Sands said nothing. He nodded his head in assent, however, and Britz began a search of the Orientals fully as exhaustive as that they had performed on the room. Before he had gone far in his quest, Sands volunteered assistance, and each explored the folds of the Hindoos' raiment with the clumsiness that might be expected of men not accustomed to that sort of work.

Britz, working more swiftly than the millionaire, made his first find. It was a sheet of notepaper of fashionable size and tint, on which had been written a few lines in a feminine hand. Britz had not the slightest compunction of conscience about reading it. Chivalry was all very well in its way, but it played no part in detective work, especially when the lady most concerned was not present to make a protest. He moved to the center of the room, and in the light of a cluster of incandescent lamps read aloud to Sands the following enigmatical missive:

"Curtis Dear: When are you coming up to the hotel? If you do not come or send me a check quickly, I shall have to sell some of the jewels."

"MILICENT."

That was all. Whether that "all" was much or little, Britz, offhand, was not prepared to say. The use of Griswold's given name at the beginning of the note apparently meant a good deal. But who was Millicent? In the course of his probing of the Missioner diamond mystery, Britz had canvassed the complete visiting list of everyone who was in the opera box on the night when the falsity of the Maharane diamond was discovered. He had had compiled a social register of everyone interested in the case—everyone that

Half-Sat, Half-Lay There.

Mrs. Missioner, Sands, Griswold, Miss Holcomb, Miss March, and the Swami knew. In all that long roster there was no one named "Millicent." Neither, for that matter, was there a "Mildred." There the signature was, too clear to admit of any mistake. The writing was excellent, and while it did not go to the extreme of the current fashion in chirography, it was what Britz called in his vivid vernacular "classy."

"Ever seen that flat before?" asked the detective as he handed the note to Sands.

The millionaire shook his head. While it was true, Britz reflected, that the big man was known as "Silent" Sands in Wall Street society, he was certainly more economical of words than anyone he had ever known in his life. Aloud, he continued:

"Are you sure you have never seen any writing at all like that before?"

Another shake of the head was Sands' only concession to the detective's right to question him. He gave the note back to the Headquarters man, who returned to the circle of light under the incandescent lamp and studied it again. Meanwhile, Sands went on with his search of the second Oriental. He was not as clever in his movements as Britz, and when he tried to conceal something, he signally failed. For the detective, though his eyes seemingly were fastened on the note addressed to Griswold, saw the millionaire take something out of the Oriental's tunic and then slip it into his waistcoat pocket.

"Something else, eh?" asked Britz. Sands nodded.

"Mind letting me see what it is?" Sands shook his head slowly, decisively.

"What's the objection?"

"It is not anything that can possibly interest you," returned the millionaire.

"How do you know that, Mr. Sands?" asked the detective.

"I do know it," said Sands emphatically.

"Well, I don't know about that," Britz returned. "I think I'm the best judge of what interests me; and, as I have played a pretty active part in this little incident, it seems to me the least you can do is to gratify my curiosity."

"Well, I will not," was Sands' defiant answer. "And while we are on the subject, Lieutenant Britz, let me say I should like to understand the purpose of your visit to my rooms."

"Oh, you would, would you?" snapped Britz.

"I certainly should," Sands replied. "I come home to find you peeping through a hole in my portiere, and two Easterners, with whom apparently you have had nothing to do, going through my desk and other belongings. I rather think I am entitled to know the why and the wherefore."

"I rather think you are, Mr. Sands," said Britz, "and I don't mind telling you I came here to see you privately, and arrived just in time to see these gentlemen drop to that fire escape and come in by that window. After that I had the pleasure of witnessing the dexterity with which they ransacked your chiffonier, your desk, your bedside table, your bed, your chairs, your rugs, and everything else in the room. Maybe you will explain to me the reason they have such a deep interest in your housekeeping arrangements?"

"Maybe you will do a little more explaining Lieutenant Britz," said the millionaire. "You will observe that when I said these fellows had no connection with you, I qualified the assertion?"

"Oh, that was very good of you," said Britz.

Sands continued. "I should like to know right here and now just how far this qualification extends."

"Well, Mr. Sands," answered the detective as he relighted his cigar and disposed himself in the most comfortable of attitudes in the chair beside the desk, "there are a good many things we may like to explain. I should like, for instance, to know how your visiting card came to be in the possession of a man who is an inmate of the State Hospital for the Insane on Ward's Island?"

If Britz expected to startle Sands into any physical expression of guilt, he was disappointed. The millionaire's muscles were as inflexible as his determination not to satisfy the detective's inquisitiveness in regard to that which he had taken from the Hindoo.

"You are in a mood for riddles, Lieutenant," said Sands slowly. "Now, you see, I am not. My time is too valuable."

"Well, what are you going to do about these fellows?" asked Britz.

"Oh, don't you bother about them," said Sands. "I guess I can take care of them."

"I guess you'll guess again," said Britz, "for if anybody is going to take care of these gentlemen, behold in me the only original little caretaker."

Britz turned to the Hindoos. "Now, then, you dusky beauties, suppose you come along with me."

"Going to carry them?" asked Sands.

Britz blushed; yes, Britz fairly and squarely blushed. In his momentary exasperation at the millionaire's stubbornness he had forgotten that not only the hands, but also the feet of the Orientals were bound. However, he was not to be disconcerted, and it was with sufficient readiness that he replied:

"You don't suppose I take my prisoners through the streets like a member of the Traffic Squad, do you? Where's your telephone?"

Sands indicated the instrument and Britz took it up and called for 3100 Spring.

"Headquarters?" he asked over the wire. "Yes, this is Britz. Have a wagon sent from the West Thirtieth Street Station to the St. Barnabas Apartment house. No, don't send the reserves; just send a couple of men. Good-by."

As he rang off, he turned and faced his host.

"Mr. Sands," said he, "there are one or two points about which I would like to talk to you this evening. I came to you frankly and directly because I found one of your cards in the possession of a man who, while mentally unbalanced, knows something about the fake Maharane diamond. After arriving here, I had the opportunity to serve you in the way of protecting your property. And I wasted no time in meeting with you. You see fit to ignore my efforts in that direction, although I may say that if it had not been for me these second-story specialists would have been up or down the fire escape and many blocks away long before you could have caught them. I do not mind telling you, Mr. Sands, that even though you were center rush at Harvard, you are not quick enough for Central Office men. And now, when you find something on one of these men that may or may not be of interest to me, instead of letting me see it, or telling me its contents—I'd take your word for it—you stuff it into your pocket and tell me to go to blazes. Moreover, when I ask you what disposition you want made of these burglars, you almost tell me it's none of my business."

Britz rocked on his heels and thrust his hands into his pockets with force that was eloquent of his displeasure to anybody who knew him well.

"Now, let me tell you, Mr. Sands," he went on, "that it is my business what becomes of these prisoners. They are going to the Tenderloin Police Station, and a charge of burglary is going to be entered on the blotter against them."

"I am not going to prosecute them," said Sands.

"Oh, you're not, aren't you? Well, I think you will," returned Britz. "Anyway, if you don't feel like prosecuting them, I'll do it myself. This case is not in your hands now; it belongs to the people of the State of New York, and if you don't choose to appear as complainant, I'll call you as a witness for the State. So, Mr. Sands, if you are not hopelessly addicted to cigars or cigarettes to the exclusion of all other forms of the weed, permit me to suggest that when we have left you alone, you retire to the remote background of your apartment, put that in your pipe and smoke it!"

Sands became genuinely angry. It took a good deal to disturb his equanimity, but the detective's manner, as he saw it, was offensive. Sands seriously meditated for an instant an attempt to grasp the Headquarters man by the collar, rush him to the door, and drop him down at least one flight of stairs. The sleuth's coolness and courage avoided any unpleasantness of that sort, and his unwilling host quickly regained his grip upon himself.

The tension of the situation was relaxed by the buzzing of the electric bell at the outer door of the apartment, and the entrance of a somewhat blustering bellboy with an announcement that a patrol wagon was at the door and two policemen were asking for Detective Britz of Headquarters, who was visiting Mr. Sands.

"Bring them up," said Britz, wasting no further time on courtesy. Then,

he turned to the millionaire and said:

"I wouldn't have brought the patrol wagon here, Mr. Sands, if you had been a little more considerate. A couple of plain clothes men could have taken these fellows to the police station easily enough; but, when a man, through a rush of emotion to the brain, or—for some other reason—makes faces at the law as openly as you have done, why, let the law take its course, I say."

Sands maintained a dignified silence as a pair of bluecoats, stumbling over a bearskin rug in the library, came into the suite, and at a sign from Britz, seized the shrinking Orientals. One by one the prisoners were lifted, neck and heels, and taken to the patrol wagon. Britz, of course, could have had the bandages about their feet removed, for it would have been perfectly safe to let those sturdy policemen escort them to the sidewalk in the ordinary way; but Britz was only human. The memory of the grip in which those very men had held him in the ride along Riverside Drive, of the smothering solitude of the desolate apartment house, and the struggle which had followed, came to him in the moment when he was on the point of ordering the unfettering of the captives. With a grin that struck terror to the clinging Eastern souls, he said to them:

"You two artists are so fond of silk that I guess I'll let you wear those ornaments a little while longer."

When the Hindoos were gone, Britz turned to Sands, and said with emphasis:

"If you experience a change of heart, Mr. Sands, I shall be very glad to hear from you in regard to what you found on your dark friend. Of course, since you are in your own rooms, and since the article was evidently stolen in this place by the fellow, I cannot compel you, without a great deal of trouble, to let me see it. It is not at all certain it would be worth my while to take that trouble; but it may dawn upon you before very long that it will be well worth your while, Mr. Sands, not only to let me see the thing, but to tell me everything you know about it. Good-night, Mr. Sands."

And there was something ominous in the military click of the detective's heels as he walked across the echoing marquetry to the elevator.

UNITED WE STAND, DIVIDED?

The reports during the past week have been unanimous in showing that the republicans are getting back into line, being convinced that Roosevelt's election is an impossibility and realizing that a vote for Roosevelt is a half a vote for Wilson and free trade. In addition to this there is indisputable evidence that Woodrow Wilson will not get the democratic vote which was given to Bryan in 1908. Thousands of democrats in every state have declared that they are for President Taft upon the plain business proposition that they do not want a change from the present prosperous conditions. It is reported from all sections that business men and farmers as well as workmen, who have hitherto been democrats, are openly working for the success of the republican ticket in the hope that prosperity will not be destroyed.

There is absolutely no reason why

a republican should follow Roosevelt into the third party.

The republican party has been the one progressive party of the nation, from the day it undertook to overthrow slavery to the present time. It has maintained the credit of the government at home and abroad and its record of beneficent legislation for the betterment of social conditions is long and effective. It has also maintained the policy of protection, in which is wrapped up the wage of the workman and the industrial progress of the nation. In addition to this President Taft has given the country a safe, honest, wise and economical administration accomplishing more in three and a half years than his predecessor did in twice that time. In fact, conditions could be filled with the achievements of the republican party and of President Taft.

This being true, it seems remarkable that any republican should be led away from the organization with which he has been identified for a life time and to the principles of which he has given cordial support. He has seen the country grow and prosper under republican administration, just as he saw it pass through a period of great distress under the tariff-for-revenue-only policy of the democratic party. By now voting for the third term candidate he aids in the election of a democratic president and makes possible a return to the conditions which made the period between 1893 and 1897 one of national gloom. It is impossible to elect Theodore Roosevelt. To win the presidency he must receive 8 out of every 10 republican votes cast in the United States. Everybody knows he cannot do this.

Then why waste a vote on Roosevelt? As a matter of fact it is worse than wasted, because it is half a vote for Wilson and free trade. Col. Roosevelt himself has said that if Wilson is elected there will be the worst panic the country has ever seen—a panic beside which all others will be as child's play—and he predicts that the depression will indefinitely continue.

It is one of the numerous inconsistencies of which he is guilty that even while he points out the danger which is ahead he contributes to the possibility of that danger by dividing the republican vote. The republican party as a party is in a majority in this country, because the people know that its principles and policies have brought the nation to its present splendid condition, just as they also know that the democratic party has never yet learned how to govern this country wisely and well. Democracy's only hope of victory is in a divided republican party.

When, immediately after the republican national convention, Col. Roosevelt led a bolt and then had himself nominated for president, it seemed as if the division thus created in the republican party made President Taft's position hopeless.

If the division had continued such would have been the case. The fact is, however, that as the days and weeks have gone by the republicans have taken time to consider the situation they have returned to their old affiliation. They have seen that Roosevelt offers no practical reform to be secured by national legislation which has not already either been enacted into law or has been recommended by President Taft. They have seen, too, that Roosevelt Third Term party is merely a Wilson Aid Society and they resent the effort on the part of a disappointed and revengeful aspirant for the presidential nomination to destroy the party which honored him in the past and which was good enough for him until it failed to gratify his third term ambition.

In other words, the republicans of the United States are awakening to an appreciation of the true situation. It is this fact which has made the turn of the tide for Taft, which has brought encouraging news from the states formerly considered hopeless, and which is the foundation of the claims which are now so confidently made by the republican managers.

There are thousands upon thousands of republicans who would vote for Taft if they thought he could be elected; there are almost as many democrats who in their hearts would seriously regret to see an academic and theoretical college professor and free trader become president; and there are a large number of Roosevelt followers who would hesitate to contribute to the election of a democrat if they could realize that there is no possibility of electing their candidate.

President Taft not only can but will be elected; there is every reason to fear Wilson and free trade; and Roosevelt cannot get the eight out of every ten republican votes necessary to elect him. These are the logical and convincing facts that should bring about on election day an old time rally of the republican party at the polls.

A CALL TO ARMS.

Leaving state and national politics out of the discussion, there are seven names in the republican column on the ballot to be voted upon who must not be overlooked by the voters of this country. They are the men whose return to office or rejection this country will be largely responsible for.

John C. McKenzie is candidate for representative in congress, Edmund Jackson is candidate for board of equalization, Albert T. Tourtillot is candidate for representative at Springfield, Wm. B. McMahon is candidate for clerk of the circuit court, Harry Edwards is the candidate for states attorney, Charles T. Smith is candidate for coroner, Lambert B. Neighbour is candidate for surveyor. All of these men are republican candidates.

These men have enough friends in the district and county to elect them easily, if their friends come out and vote. It is up to the republicans to see that the votes are cast. It rests with the republicans whether these men will be elected or not and the situation demands alertness and zeal on the part of every loyal member of the party. Every vote is needed, and this is no time for over-confidence. Get out and do your part, gentlemen, and our candidates will be returned victorious. Lack of enthusiasm is the one thing that might defeat some of them, for they are the pick of all the tickets and are the men pre-eminently fitted for the positions.

There are a few candidates here who are going to try to ride into office on the back of the Roosevelt vote. Don't let it be said that the voters of Lee county are so dead to their own interests and so blind to the character and qualifications of the candidates that they will allow a single one of the splendidly equipped and especially capable men on the republican ticket to be defeated.

The immediate future of the party in this county is at stake and there is but one thing to do, and that is to stand by it loyally. The surest way to mark your ballot is to put a cross in the republican circle at the top of the first column. Vote for whom on other tickets if you must, but it is to your own best interests to have the republican candidates elected.

THERE ARE A FEW OF US LEFT.

To hear the democrats and their assistants, the Bull Moosers, tell it, the republican party is a fast disappearing race. There are a few strays left, of course, but they are rare curiosities. If there are any left after election they will be herded together and placed in a zoo, as the ragged remnants of an extinct species. So think our friends the Bull Moosers and democrats. Be that as it may, we are truly thankful to be numbered among this alleged small band of citizens who are so old fashioned and behind the times.

We are just eccentric enough to believe, however, that our confident friends are mistaken. We presume to suspect that they are over-confident, and we dare to hope that they will get the surprise of their lives when the returns come in on Tuesday night.

Nationally Lee county is conceded by those who claim to know, to Col. Roosevelt, although the Taft republicans will undoubtedly make a very respectable showing and will doubtless cast a great deal larger vote than is looked for by those of the other parties. Starting with the governor and from there down, however, candidates other than republicans are going to have rocky traveling. Republicanism is not dead in Lee county and the polls will show it. We predict victory for the republican state, congressional, legislative and county ticket in this county.

SERIES OF SPECIAL SERMONS.
 Sunday Nights During November and December, First Presbyterian Church

The Rev. Ralph Macclay Crissman pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will begin a special series of sermons Sunday night to continue through the months of November and December, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. These sermons will be of interest to all. They are as follows:

IMPORTANT TO TAX-PAYERS.

The tax-payers of the Thirteenth Congressional district are called upon this year to select a member of the State Board of Equalization of taxes. Our present efficient member, Edmund Jackson, is a candidate for re-election, having been nominated by the people at the primaries last April.

This is not an office to be peddled around from man to man or from county to county, but is an important one requiring competent service. It is a well known fact that no officer is as competent during his first term as in subsequent ones. The people have paid for educating Mr. Jackson for this work and are entitled to his services. It costs no more to retain this skilled and faithful official than to have a new and untried man. Mr. Jackson's ability has been recognized by appointment on the two committees of the Board of most importance to this district, the Lands and railroads committees. Mr. Jackson is the only member of the Board who has been appointed to represent the State at a National Tax Conference meeting. Last year alone by his strict attention to the affairs of his office and knowledge of conditions he prevented nearly two millions of dollars worth of property from escaping taxation in this district. All tax-payers are interested in having this important subject given proper attention, regardless of their political opinions, and should, therefore, see to it that Mr. Jackson is retained in office.

Mr. Jackson has a state-wide acquaintance with men and things, as he has been for many years a prominent and active member of the Odd Fellows, Masons, Knights of Pythias and Mystic Workers.

Royal

Baking Powder

Absolutely Pure

Royal Baking Powder exceeds others in leavening power, in purity and wholesomeness, and is used generally in families, exclusively in the most celebrated hotels and restaurants, by the United States Army and Navy, and wherever the best and finest food is required. Teachers of cooking schools and lecturers upon culinary matters use and recommend the Royal.

Royal is the only baking powder made from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar. It is admittedly the best and most healthful baking powder made.

ERUPTION LIKE PIMPLES ON FACE

Developed Into Sores. Would Almost Scratch Himself Raw. Cuticure Soap and Cuticura Ointment Completely Cured Him.

Wathena, Kan.—"My child's scalp
trouble became so bad that I was ashamed to have anyone see him. His head had a solid scab on it. He also had a terrible eruption on his face which was gradually growing worse. The eruption was like pimples which developed into sores when he scratched which he did almost constantly. Baby would almost scratch himself raw."

"I had used several different kinds of salve, none of them helping in the least bit, when I saw the Cuticura advertisement in the paper and it made me think of the good results my sister had when she used it for her children. I had only used Cuticure Soap and Ointment about two weeks before I noticed that the sores were almost entirely gone and it must have been a month or six weeks he was troubled before I began the treatment. He would get easy when I would put the Cuticura Ointment on him. Cuticura Soap and Ointment completely cured him and he has a clear complexion now. I also use Cuticura Ointment on the older children's heads and find it leaves the hair soft and silky." (Signed)
Mrs. W. H. Hughes, Dec. 31, 1911.

Cuticura Soap (25c) and Cuticura Ointment (50c) are sold throughout the world. A single set is often sufficient. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Dramatic Notes

OPERA HOUSE SOON.

Great care has been taken by Manager A. G. Delamater in selecting the artists to create the different roles in the dramatization of Gene Stratton-Porter's novel "Freckles." The most difficult role to fill was that of Freckles as it required not only required an exceedingly young handsome actor but one possessed of a grand opera voice as well. At least a hundred different applicants were interviewed before one was selected.
There are very few Scotch artists in America at present disengaged and therefore it was necessary to send to England for actors to play Mr. and Mrs. Duncan. The other parts are portrayed by American actors and actresses all of whom are thoroughly familiar with the types prevailing in the locale where the story is laid.

THE MAN HIGHER UP.

Leaves Olympic Theatre for Broadway Nov. 9th, to Be Followed by Henry W. Savage's Laugh Success,
"The Million."

Chicago's playgoing public must soon bid farewell to the first distinctive success of the new theatrical season, Edith Ellis' play of love and statercraft, "The Man Higher Up."
The last performance of this patronage winning production will take place at the Olympic theatre on Saturday evening, Nov. 9. The high favor with which it was received, as attested by the generous box office receipts, prompted a demand for its immediate appearance on Broadway.
On this account the engagement cannot be prolonged any longer than the date mentioned, although there is every indication that "The Man Higher Up" could be maintained as an all-winter run feature at the Olympic theatre.

The notable successor will be Henry W. Savage's laugh production,
"The Million," which was the farce hit of New York all last season. Not since Excuse Me have world weary theatre goers been offered a high class entertainment containing such incessant and tumultuous laughter as follows the progress of this deligatful farce play. The frenzied scramble after a missing lottery ticket,
which is the keynote of the action,
leads from one ludicrous situation to another with incredible rapidity. It is by the authority of The Pink Lady and Oh, Oh, Delphine, Mr. Savage's original New York cast of comedians
will be seen in the presentation.

V. H. S. 14, R. R. M. A. 7.
The Union High School foot ball team defeated the R. R. M. A. 14 to 7 last Saturday afternoon at the opening of the College game. There was a great improvement in the playing of the high school team.

Their forward passes and trick plays were fine. The high school team winning this game evens up the contest between the two schools.

Basket Ball

It has been thought that basket ball practice would start next Monday in the high school gym. This is a good chance for all trying for the team.

No More Football

It has been decided that the foot ball team of the Dixon Union High School would disband on account of scarlet fever on the North Side of the river. The Rochelle game was canceled and it has been thought that the others would be also. Many of the players on both sides of the river feel very disappointed.

High School Lecture Postponed

The first of the series of lectures
which was to be given at the Dixon
High school building Friday night,
Nov. 1, was postponed until the following Friday.

Medical Lecture.

Dr. Owens, a well known doctor in Dixon, gave a short talk at the high school building Wednesday morning on the danger of scarlet fever. He also explained to the students the way to keep the disease from spreading. He was introduced by Supt.
W. R. Snyder.

Halloween Party

Mrs. Olive Kerz entertained twenty-five young people of the Sophomore class Thursday evening at her home with a Halloween party. Everyone enjoyed themselves playing games and dancing. Refreshments were served after the games.

A Common Event

Every student of the school is worrying about the quarterly exams which will be held the latter part of next week.

did the people of England eat during the fourteenth century?
Mr. Graff—They ate cattle, pigs ful of time, who is not wasteful of opportunities, but who is wasteful

of smiles.

SCHOOLUS BUCKETUM KICK- TUS EST.

There was no school the latter part of the week, owing to an epidemic—we almost said epizootic.
Hence, the wailing and gnashing of teeth of all concerned.

N. B.—We point with pride to the above heading—the outgrowth of a year and three months of Latin.

An Exciting Time

A near panic was averted last Tuesday by a few possessing cool heads, when the sound of myriads of pennies scurrying about the room,
greeted the ears of those studying.
Said coppers represented the day's gate receipts of Duke Sterling, to whom they were restored by obliging ones.

ATTENTION, COMRADES.

All comrades of the G. A. R. post will meet at the hall at one p.

the funeral of Comrade T. F.

HOW TO PRESERVE YOUTH AND BEAUTY.

One great secret of youth and beauty for the young woman or the mother is the proper understanding of her womanly system and well-being. Every woman, young or old, should know herself and her physical make up. A good way to arrive at this knowledge is to get a good doctor book, such for instance, as "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," by R. V. Pierce, M. D., which can readily be procured by sending thirty-one cents for cloth-bound copy, addressing Dr. Pierce, at Buffalo, N. Y.

The womanly system is a delicate machine which can only be compared to the intricate mechanism of a beautiful watch which will keep in good running order only with good care and the proper oiling at the right time, so that the delicate mechanism may not be worn out. Very many times young women get old or run down before their time through ignorance and the improper handling of this human mechanism. Mental depression, a confused head, backache, headache, or hot flashes and many symptoms of derangement of the womanly system can be avoided by a proper understanding of what to do, in those trying times that come to all women.

MRS. WILLIAMS.

MRS. G. H. WILLIAMS, of Lynnhaven, Va., wrote: "It is six years since my health gave way. I had female trouble and all the doctors (I employed three) said I would die. I was not able to do my work, had to hire someone all the time. Finally, I read in the papers about Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and decided to try it. I had not taken but one bottle until I found it had done me good. I took, in all, five bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and two of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and now I am able to do all my housework, and have gained fourteen pounds. I advise all women who suffer from female trouble to try your 'Favorite Prescription.' It's the only medicine on earth."

PAPES DIAPEPSIN REGULATES STOMACH

TIME IT! IN FIVE MINUTES THE GAS, SOURNESS, HEARTBURN, AND INDIGESTION MISERY IS GONE.

Do some foods you eat hit back—
taste good, but work badly; ferment
taste good, but work badly; ferment
into stubborn lumps and cause a sick, sour, gassy stomach? Now, Mr. or
Mrs. Dyspeptic, jot this down:
Pape's Diapepsin digests everything,
leaving nothing to sour and upset
you. There never was anything so safely quick, so certainly effective.

No difference how badly your stomach is disordered you will get happy relief in five minutes, but what pleases you most is that it strengthens and regulates your stomach so that you can eat your favorite foods without fear.

Most remedies give you relief sometimes—they are slow, but not sure.
Diapepsin is quick, positive and puts
your stomach in a healthy condition,
so the misery won't come back.

You feel different as soon as Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach—distress just vanishes—
your stomach gets sweet, no gases,
no belching, no eructations of undig-ested food, your head* clears and you feel fine.

Go now, make the best investment
you ever made, by getting a large fitty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder.

SEVEN YEARS OF MISERY

How Mrs. Bethune was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Sikeston, Mo. — "For seven years I suffered everything. I was in bed for four or five days at a time every month,
and so weak I could hardly walk. I had cramps, backache
and headache, and was so nervous and
weak that I dreaded
to see anyone or have anyone move in the room. The doctors gave me medicine to ease me at those times, and said that I ought to have an operation. I would not listen to that, and when a friend of my husband's told him about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done
for his wife, I was willing to take it.
Now I look the picture of health and feel like I, too, I can do all my own housework, work in the garden and entertain company and enjoy them, and can walk
as far as any ordinary woman, any day in the week. I wish I could talk to every suffering woman and girl, and tell them what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—Mrs.
DEMA BETHUNE, Sikeston, Mo.

Remember, the remedy which did this was Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
It has helped thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, and bearing down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means have failed. Why don't you try it?

GEN. HOMER LEA DEAD

American Adviser of Sun Yat
Sen Dies on Coast.

Credited With Many of the Reforms
Achieved by the New Government of China.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 2.—Gen.
Homer P. Lea, famous throughout the world as the personal adviser of Sun Yat Sen during the Chinese revolution and as the author of "The Valor of Ignorance," died at his home, 135 Wadsworth avenue, Ocean Park, after an illness that has been serious since his return from China last May. A widow and two sisters survive him.
Mrs. Lea was with her husband when death ensued.

General Lea was a graduate of Los Angeles high school and Stanford university and is known as widely in the literary world as among military men and government officials. His latest book, "The Saxon of Today," was published only three months ago.

In China General Lea held the rank of lieutenant general. He was almost constantly at the side of Sun Yat Sen
during the revolution, and is credited with many of the reforms achieved by the new government of China.

General Lea collapsed under the strain
and only a few days after the republic was declared he started from China for his southern California home. He landed in San Francisco on May 6 a nervous wreck and threatened with blindness. At his Ocean Park home he gained strength until a stroke of paralysis from which he did not rally brought death. No funeral arrangements have been yet made. The body will be cremated.

Respite to General Sickles.
New York, Nov. 2.—Gen. Daniel E.
Sickles was given two weeks longer
by Sheriff Harburger to satisfy a judgment of $5,000 held by the Bank of the Metropolis.

Bank Robbery Suspects Held.
Columbus, O., Nov. 2.—Two men whom the local police believe can tell something about the $200,000 bank
robbery at New Westminster, Canada, were arrested here. They registered as R. E. Campbell and Joe F. Calvin.
They were taken into custody by United States Deputy Marshal Al. Bauer.

Oklahoma Bank Closed.
Washington, Nov. 2.—Comptroller of Currency Murray was advised of the closing of the First National bank of Welburton, Okla., because of the defalcation of the cashier. The amount of the shortage is reported to be $60,000. The cashier is said to have confessed.

Charged With Taking Union's Funds.
Sterling, Nov. 2.—Ben Gundano, secretary of the United Mine Workers' local union at Dazek has absconded, it is charged, with $1,121.25 belonging to the union. He is believed to have fled to Italy. Ports from which ships leave for that country
are being watched.

Kills Moose With Single Shot.
Freepore, Nov. 2.—Willard Hance, aged eleven, was the only member of a party of Freepore hunters that has just returned from British Columbia who was successful in killing big game. He killed a big moose with a single shot.

A SIGN FROM HEAVEN.
Mark viii, 11-26—Nov. 3.

"Jesus spake unto them, saying, I am the Light of the world; he that followeth Me shall not walk in the dark, but shall have the light of life."—John viii, 12.

THE Scribes and Pharisees of Jesus' day were perplexed by His success in reaching the people. True, those who heard Him gladly were chiefly of the common people, whom the Jewish teachers refused to recognize as brethren.
They considered Jesus a competitor
and feared for their own reputations
because of the superiority of Jesus,
whose "Wonderful Words of Life"
touched the hearts of many.

These Pharisees came to find fault.
They asked Him for "a sign from heaven." Their purpose was to belittie the signs He was giving. Ignoring these they said, We want a heavenly sign;
give us this and
we will believe.

In order to be able to sympathize with the rulers of the Jews,
we must remember how different
were the proofs of Jesus' Messiahship from what they had supposed. The Prophecies told many things of Messiah, but they had given heed to those which spoke of the power that would come to the Jewish nation.

Other Scriptures tell of how Messiah should "be led as a Lamb to the slaughter, and as a sheep before her shearers is dumb, so He would open not His mouth." They tell of how He would "preach deliverance to the captives," and the opening of the eyes of the blind, but this they associated with the glorious Kingdom. Their difficulty was that they lacked humility and were not teachable. The "Israelites indeed," had misunderstandings of the prophecies but were open to conviction,
and to these the Master's teachings were attractive. They were guided to the correct understanding of the Divine Plan, and were ready for the Pentecostal blessing as part of the "elect."

No Sign but That of Jonah.

Our lesson tells that Jesus asked,
"Why doth this generation seek after a sign?" refusing to give them a sign.
St. Matthew (xvi, 1-4) gives a more detailed account: Jesus called the attention of the Pharisees to the signs that He was giving, and then said there would be one "sign" given that nation.
That "sign" did have a great effect
upon thousands of Jews on Pentecost Day, and upon their hearing St. Peter respecting the death of Jesus.
His three days in the tomb and His resurrection. Jesus cited the sign of Jonah

STATE BEE KEEPERS ELECT

Illinois Association Closes Annual Meeting in Springfield—E. J. Baxter of Nauvoo Chosen President.

Springfield, Nov. 2.—The Illinois Bee Keepers' association closed its annual session after electing officers and hearing an address by National Secretary E. D. Tyrrell, Detroit. The officers elected were: President, E. J. Baxter, Nauvoo; vice-presidents, W. B. Moore, Alton; H. S. Duby, St. Ann; Aron Coppin, Winona; G. N. Withrow, Buffalo; I. E. Pyles, Putnam; secretary, James A. Stone, Springfield; treasurer, Charles Becker, Pleasant Plains.

Society Leader Loses Suit.

Waukegan, Nov. 2.—Fred Rose, age seventeen, was awarded $4,000 damages against Miss Helen Morton, a Chicago society leader, by a jury in the circuit court. Rose was injured August 31, 1911, when a horse which Miss Morton had requested him to mount and ride reared, lost his balance, and then fell backward, pinning the boy to the ground. Both bones in his right leg were broken. Miss Morton, who was standing within an arm's length of the boy, called a physician and later accompanied him to the Lake Forest hospital. Miss Morton or her attorneys were not in the courtroom when the case was called for trial.

Price of Coal Increased.

Springfield, Nov. 2.—Fifty cents a ton was added on the price of all coal shipped out of central Illinois mines, the increase affecting all but the retailers who have iron-clad contracts. Retailers here, who have been selling soft coal at $2.50 a ton for the past six months, announced that the price will be three dollars a ton until further notice and that they anticipate another increase before January 1. New territory added to the market for central Illinois coal, as the result of the building of new railroads, is declared responsible for the increase.

Blast, Fire Wrecks Store.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Police of the Maxwell street station and detectives from the office of the fire attorney are investigating the cause of an explosion which blew out the front of a one-story brick building at 736-38 North Paulina street, occupied by a men's furnishings store. Fire which followed destroyed the building with a loss of $3,000. Someone notified the firemen by telephone that smoke was issuing from the building, and as engine company No. 31 drove up the front of the building was blown out.

Killed on Second Trip.

Danville, Nov. 2.—W. P. Robbins, student fireman on the Peoria & Eastern, twenty-five years old and single, was struck and killed at Hillsboro, Ind., east of here, by a west-bound passenger train. Robbins was making his second trip over the road. The freight on which he was working was side-tracked and Robbins was working on the dump grates. It is supposed that in the fog he failed to notice a passenger train approaching. His skull was crushed and one-half cut off.

Missing Boy Is Heard From.

Champaign, Nov. 2.—Mrs. Laura E. Martin of this city has received a telegram from her son, Martin Eukers, who is now at Fort Wayne, Ind., which partly clears up the mysterious disappearance of the young man from Indianapolis last June. Eukers, who was making his home with an uncle at Cleveland, O., was sent to Indianapolis in June to look after a shipment of lumber over which there had been some trouble.

Shoots Self Through Head.

Joliet, Nov. 2.—Mrs. Mabel Plumber of Chicago shot herself through the head in the Hobbs hotel. Her body was found fully dressed in a pool of blood on the bed by a housemaid. She is a sister of Mrs. Walter John Reynolds of Fifty-second street, Chicago, and formerly lived in Joliet with her parents, now deceased. The reason for the suicide is not apparent. She was about thirty years of age.
